Marc Koehler Biography

Marc Koehler is the President of Lead With Purpose, a company dedicated to helping people lead more purposeful and inspiring lives. The company provides leaders with simple and powerful tools and best practices that help get everyone on the same page and rowing in the same direction.

Lead With Purpose was forged out of Marc's work as an Interim CEO/COO over a 10 year period where he personally experienced the leadership challenges small-business owners face.

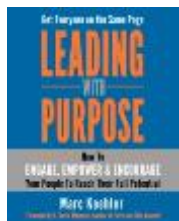

In his first assignment, he quickly recognized that the tools he had learned and used to be successful in large organizations over the previous 20 years, were not working. Not finding a solution on the market and driven by a sense of urgency, Marc went back to his time in the US Nuclear Submarine Force and started bringing forward that leadership approach and set of tools.

What he noticed surprised him. Using this approach and tools helped to create a common vision and a shared purpose that everyone could understand and buy into. This created a more engaged and empowered team that all started rowing at the same time in the same direction and ultimately a successful outcome.

Over the next ten years, Marc was in a small-business leadership laboratory testing live and experiencing first-hand what worked and what didn't. He continued to simplify and noticed that regardless of the industry, company size, or geographic location, the tools he brought forth from the Submarine Force were helping to transform the lives of leaders, the people they led, and ultimately their company.

Wanting to impact and reach more businesses, Marc started Lead With Purpose in 2012 and made available the tools and best practices that any leader can use to become more effective. The keystone tool is an online single page plan that fosters transparency, trust, employee engagement, and helps people to stay focused on what matters most.

Marc is the author of Leading With Purpose, an award winning book which steps leaders and their team through the creation of a single page plan and then shows them how to use it to collectively drive success, solve problems, and manage change. Marc has presented at many prestigious leadership conferences across the US. He appreciates opportunities to spread his message of leading a more purposeful and inspiring life.

In late 2017, Lead With Purpose will launch a one page family plan that will help people create a stronger family and a more balanced life.

Marc has four year degrees in Physics and Mechanical Engineering and is a Lean Six Sigma Black Belt. He served his country in the US Submarine force from 1988 to 1993. Marc and Heidi, his wife of 20 years, live in San Diego, California with their daughters Anja (19), Liesel (17), and Sophie (15). Marc enjoys spending time with his family at the beach and on the soccer field.
